

Next Steps for Prioritizing Standards and Developing Learning Progressions

Collaboratively prioritize standards in your team or professional learning community.

For each prioritized standard, discuss what proficiency would look or sound like for the standard.

Deconstruct the prioritized standards, and create learning progressions based on the steps needed to demonstrate mastery.

Using the prioritized standards and learning progressions, plan for formative and summative assessment (addressed in chapters 3 [page 51], 4 [page 73], and 5 [page 91]).

Use the learning progressions with students for instruction and practice.

Use the learning progressions for student reflection and self-assessment.
