

My Not Yet / You Bet List

In the following table, sort the content or skills you have been working with during this instructional cycle into two categories: a Not Yet list of content or skills you are still working to learn and a You Bet list of content or skills you have already mastered.

Not Yet	You Bet
Content or skills I am still working to master.	Content or skills I have already mastered.
<input type="checkbox"/> _____	<input type="checkbox"/> _____
<input type="checkbox"/> _____	<input type="checkbox"/> _____
<input type="checkbox"/> _____	<input type="checkbox"/> _____
<input type="checkbox"/> _____	<input type="checkbox"/> _____
<input type="checkbox"/> _____	<input type="checkbox"/> _____
<input type="checkbox"/> _____	<input type="checkbox"/> _____
<input type="checkbox"/> _____	<input type="checkbox"/> _____
<input type="checkbox"/> _____	<input type="checkbox"/> _____
<input type="checkbox"/> _____	<input type="checkbox"/> _____
<input type="checkbox"/> _____	<input type="checkbox"/> _____
<input type="checkbox"/> _____	<input type="checkbox"/> _____

Reflection Questions

1. Rank the items on your Not Yet list from the most important to master to the least important to master. Why did you rank them this way?

2. Which items on your Not Yet list are you the closest to mastering? What steps could you take today to move even closer to mastering those items?

3. List some of the strategies you used to master the items on your You Bet list. Do you see any patterns in the strategies that typically help you master new content or skills? Can you apply any of those strategies to mastering the items on your Not Yet list?