

Navigating Cell Phone Conflict

Imagine yourself in the situation where you have a student who has been reminded to put their phone away for the second time and still refuses to do so.

- What would you be thinking?
- What would you be feeling?
- Would this push on any of your own triggers?

- How might you have responded in the past?

- How might you respond now?