

Reflecting on Motivation

Think about a time in your life when you felt like you couldn't succeed at something. It could be a personal or professional experience.

- How did you feel when you were asked to do that task or activity?
- How motivated were you to do that task?
- What did you think about as you prepared to engage in that task or activity?
- Did you compare yourself to others who seemed more capable?