

Reflecting on Student Disengagement

Think about how you normally try to engage a student who rarely participates in class.

- When you have a student who rarely participates in class, what are your initial reactions and thoughts?
- What are your emotional responses when this happens? Does it trigger you?
- How might you have responded in the past?
- Based on what you've read and the previous examples, how might you respond now?