What Do I Do?

The Situation	I Feel, I Think	I Should Not	I Should
You are telling a story to your friends when another student interrupts you and starts telling her own story.
You're playing doubles table tennis at lunch. Your partner is very bad and keeps missing the ball.
You have a sleepover with friends on the weekend. One of your friends says he can't come, and you find out later that he went to the movies with some other students.
At lunch, you are rushing to get in line and another student steps on the back of your shoe. It was an accident, but she doesn't apologize.
Every day for the whole week, a friend of yours has asked to borrow money from you to buy food at lunch.
