

Teacher's Corner: Chapter 1

Here are some questions to support your reflection.

- Reflect on a meaningful personal experience in nature that has shaped your approach to teaching about the environment. How has that experience influenced your classroom?
- How did the vignettes from the chapter resonate with you, and why?

Here are prompts for journaling.

- Write about your process for teaching about nature or an environmentally related theme. How might Green Literacy ideals help enhance your process?
- What insights have you gleaned from the chapter that could transform the way you teach your students as you incorporate Green Literacy into your curriculum?

Here are discussion guidelines.

- Discuss the impact of personal nature experiences on your teaching. How can you and your colleagues share your stories to foster a deeper connection with the environment among your students?
- Share and discuss a section of vignette from the chapter that affirmed or made you rethink your teaching approach. What lessons can you draw from it?
