

Changing the Game

Lesson or topic: _____

What will make this difficult for my students?

What are some real-world examples of people using aspects of this lesson or topic to achieve great things?

What is an activity I can use to engage students that works in conjunction with these examples and will help them believe they can also achieve this task?
