

Literature Game Cards

Who is the narrator of the story? How does this narrator impact the text?	Describe a setting in the text. What mood does it evoke? Cite evidence.	What is a personality trait for the protagonist? Cite evidence to support it.
If you could rewrite the narrative in a different point of view, whose perspective would you choose? How would the narrative change?	How does the title relate to the text? How could it be stronger and in what way?	What is a personality trait for the antagonist? Cite evidence to support it.
Juxtapose the motivations or beliefs of two characters using textual evidence.	Name three methods of characterization and an example of one from the text.	What weakness does the writing show? Use textual evidence to support your response.
Identify the relationship between two characters and how it impacts the plot.	What is the story's theme? Cite evidence to support it.	How does the theme connect with another text?
Justify adding dialogue between characters somewhere in the narrative. Who would engage in the conversation and what would they discuss?	What advice would you give a character in a particular situation? Justify your reasoning.	What is the central conflict? Is it internal or external? Explain.
Find a place in the text where the dialogue impacts the story and explain how it achieves this.	Identify a problem other than the central conflict and explain how it is resolved.	Using textual evidence, explain the difference in behaviors or thinking of a round versus flat character or a static versus dynamic character.
What is the tone of the text and evidence to support it?	What archetypal characters, themes, or symbols do you find in the text?	What are any examples of a pattern throughout the text?
Give an example of how the author uses figurative language and interpret its meaning.	What text-to-world connection can you make?	What significant event changed the course of the story? How so?
Identify a particular literary device (symbolism, allusion, dialect, suspense, or other) that the author uses. Explain and show an example.	What indications does the author provide of a certain historical or contemporary setting?	What other plausible ending could the author have invented? Using evidence from the text, explain how your alternate ending is conceivable.
