

Exercise: Develop a Learning Progression and Assessment Plan

Your team should sequence the unpacked knowledge items and skills from your PREP template into a learning progression by starting at the simplest concepts and working up to the most complex skills. Each step in the learning progression acts as a touchstone for formative assessments and an opportunity for teams to discuss the best type of assessment to check in on student learning.

Use the following questions to guide this exercise.

- What priority standard in the unit is the basis for the learning progression we will build first?
- How can we sequence the skills and knowledge items?
- What types and formats of assessments will we conduct?
- What common formative assessments will we issue? What will we use for a common summative assessment?
