

Exercise: Participate in a Team CFA Data-Inquiry Discussion

After entering common formative assessment data into your data-collection tool, you and your team are ready to discuss student results, share instructional strategies and ideas, and develop a responsive teaching plan.

Use the following questions to guide this exercise.

- What are our logistics for meeting as a team? For example, have we set a date and location for our team data discussion?
- How will we guarantee all team members complete the necessary steps prior to the meeting?
- Which data-discussion protocol will we use to help each other focus on student results in a safe, nonthreatening environment?
- What expertise (personnel or published) can we tap into to inform our conversation about designing instruction for students?
- Where will we record ideas for providing scaffolds for students who need additional support to master skills and extending the learning for those who have already mastered them?
